

ความเคลื่อนไหวของคนไทยในต่างแดน แก่ความเข้าใจผิดของสื่อตะวันตก คุณปีเตอร์ ตั้งเพียรกิจ

เขียนโดย Peter Tang-piankij

วันจันทร์ที่ 23 ธันวาคม 2013 เวลา 00:00 น. - แก้ไขล่าสุด วันจันทร์ที่ 23 ธันวาคม 2013 เวลา 13:56 น.

ข้อความยาวหน่อย แต่เขียนดี ชัดเจน น่าอ่านมาก

ความเคลื่อนไหวของคนไทยในต่างแดน แก่ความเข้าใจผิดของสื่อตะวันตก คุณปีเตอร์ ตั้งเพียรกิจ

สวัสดีพี่น้อง

เมื่อคืนผมได้ส่ง จ.ม. ภาษา อ. ที่ผมใช้เวลาเขียนตั้งหลาย ชม. ไปให้ นาย Thomas Fuller ผู้สื่อข่าว NY Times เพื่อไปต่อว่าเขาให้เขารู้ว่า เขาเขียนบทความรายงานข่าวที่ไม่เป็นจริงและไม่ถูกต้อง พร้อมกับเรียกร้องให้เขาทำหน้าที่ให้ถูกต้องหลักจรรยาบรรณสื่อ เสนอความจริงอย่างไม่เข้าข้างใคร จ.ม.
นั้นค่อนข้างยาวและก็ได้จากข้างล่างสุดของ ภายใต้ เส้น ----- ของเมลฉบับนี้

และเพื่อให้มั่นใจว่าเขาได้รับ ผมเลยส่งไปให้ Editor ของเขา พร้อมกับแสดงความจำนงว่า อยากให้ Editor เขาส่งต่อไปยังผู้บริหารสูงสุด เพื่อให้เขาตระหนักถึงการทำหน้าที่ที่ใช้ไม่ได้ของ นาย Thomas Fuller จ.ม. ที่ผมเขียนให้กับ Editor ก็อยู่ข้างล่าง เส้น xxxxxx นี้ Editor ของ NY Times ก็ได้รับ จ.ม. ของผมแล้ว และตอบรับมาให้ผม โปรดดู ไฟล์ที่แนบมา

ผมขอเชิญชวนให้พี่น้อง ถ้ามีเวลาสักหน่อย ช่วยกันเขียนไปร้องเรียนให้ สำนักสื่อต่างชาติทราบ ถ้าผู้สื่อข่าวในสังกัดของเขาไม่ได้ทำหน้าที่อย่างตรงไปตรงมา ลงข่าวที่บิดเบือนความจริง เท่าที่ผมสังเกตมา มีผู้สื่อข่าวคนไทยช่วยเขียนข่าวหลอกลวงชาวโลกด้วย โปรดจำชื่อเขาและเขียนไปต่อว่าเขาด้วย ป.

จดหมายถึงบรรณาธิการ New York Times

ความเคลื่อนไหวของคนไทยในต่างแดน แก่ความเข้าใจผิดของสื่อตะวันตก คุณปีเตอร์ ตั้งเพียรกิจ

เขียนโดย Peter Tang-piankij

วันจันทร์ที่ 23 ธันวาคม 2013 เวลา 00:00 น. - แก้ไขล่าสุด วันจันทร์ที่ 23 ธันวาคม 2013 เวลา 13:56 น.

Date: Monday, December 16, 2013, 11:41 PM

Dear Sir or Madam,

I've written a letter to your SE Asian correspondence, Thomas Fuller, to inform him that his report contained distorted facts and was not in line with the practice of good journalism. I want to share the facts with him so that he can file accurate and fair reports in the future for the benefit of general readers worldwide as well as your organization. I sent my letter below to him at his email address next to the articles he wrote.

Since am not so sure if he would receive my letter and be able to read it in the entirety, I am emailing my letter (below the dotted line) to you. I would greatly appreciate if you will forward it to him and to your editor as well as the Executive in charge. I just want to help you ensure that your correspondence will adhere to the high ethical standard in journalism and to do his/her job in a professional and responsible manner.

A internationally renowned news media like you should not condone any reporter who writes his/her article that contains fault hood and/or twisted fact, is biased and with ความเคลื่อนไหวของคนไทยในต่างแดน แก่ความเข้าใจผิดของสื่อตะวันตก คุณปีเตอร์ ตั้งเพียรกิจ

เขียนโดย Peter Tang-piankij

วันจันทร์ที่ 23 ธันวาคม 2013 เวลา 00:00 น. - แก้ไขล่าสุด วันจันทร์ที่ 23 ธันวาคม 2013 เวลา 13:56 น.

hidden motive. As you know, allowing inaccurate, unfair and faulty reports to be published will have negative impacts and not be beneficial to your organization.

Sincerely,

Peter Tang-piankij

To: Thomas Fuller

The New York Times – SE Asian

correspondence

Dear Thomas,

For any Westerner like you who dared to try Durian and has fallen in love with the king of the fruits, I have to say that you're not an ignorant person. But after I read your article "Economic Realignment Fuels Regional Political Divisions in Thailand" published on 12/3/13 in the New York Times (your employer), I couldn't help but join other well-informed readers of Thai nationality to form the opinions that perhaps you are. Any readers worldwide would come to the same conclusion if they've read the articles on the same subject separately written by Philip J Cunningham and Tony Cartalucci. Nonetheless, I will give you the benefit of the doubt for now that you might have been misled to hook up with the wrong crowd in Thailand in your quest for sensational stories. To help you return to the practice of good journalism (accurate, fair and truthful reporting), I'd like to point out the flaws in your article.

You only interviewed two individuals (Nidhi Eoseewong and Charles Keyes) who are known to strongly support or sympathize with the fugitive former ex-PM, Thaksin Shinawatra, his puppet regimes (PMs Samak Sundaravej, Somchai Wongsawat, Yingluck Shinawatra) and his red-shirt followers. You failed to provide the equal opportunity to other qualified individuals who have opposing views. Thus, you've practically denied your readers or general public the information they should have to balance out the different perspectives and to make their own conclusion which side of the stories is more sensible and credible.

For Nidhi Eoseewong and Charles Keys to tell you and your readers that the cause of conflict or the mass protests came from socioeconomic change or classes, from power struggles or dialectic variation in the northeastern provinces, and from the uncertainty on the royal succession in the future are totally irrelevant, so ridiculous and nonsense! These two men totally missed it when they conveniently blamed the conflict or unrest on the economic disparity or jealousy between the elite (rich) in Bangkok and the poor or the wealthier farmers in the rural provinces. They did not know that Thai government in 1980s had crafted the plans for the Board of Investment (BOI) to provide incentives for investors to set up factories in provinces for the purposes of spreading economic growth and jobs outside Bangkok.

Despite the bountiful truth involved, their misstatements and fact-distortion here and elsewhere can only be interpreted as ill-will toward Thailand and Thai people.

As you know, on the truth and being truthful, President Abraham Lincoln said “you can fool all the people some of the time, and some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time.”, while Buddha said three things cannot be long hidden: the sun, the moon, and the truth.

But for these two educators, the passage of time and the expanded availability of factual information on the charges of corruption and/or misconducts by Thaksin and his cronies have not helped them reduce their ignorance. The two men like to act as spokesman for Thaksin and his cronies, crediting Thaksin’s populist policies aimed to exploit the poor and ill-informed Thai people, and defending the misconducts or corruption charged against Thaksin and his cronies. They like to sidestep the issues involved while frequently conjecturing the words military coup, majority votes, democratically elected, politically motivated, undemocratic, etc. The two men continue to bend the attention and focus on the root causes that have fueled the ongoing turmoil. They even won't hesitate to irrelevantly link the conflicts to the Thai Royal institution and our beloved king as well as the Lese Majesty law; all favorite points attempting to fool foreigners and quickly get the attention from Western media! These two men have been known to have distorted mind and twisted views consistently making unconstructive statements on controversial issues in favor of Thaksin Shinawatra, his political parties and red-shirt supporters while against anyone who opposes the convicted fugitive ex-PM. This fact was reaffirmed in your report here when they knowingly misrepresented the cause of conflict as between the old elite and new wealthy farmers, between people in Bangkok and the north and northeast provinces.

In case you missed it, please be informed that the wrongdoings committed or involved by Thaksin and his cronies are not allegation but factual. It's fairly easy to find the information from various sources; in print, audio and video (YouTube). The long list of his wrongdoings and details can also be found at the <http://www.antithaksin.com/SiteMap.php> website.

With the factual information gathered, you will find that Thaksin and his cronies are definitely the root cause of the problems (not the socioeconomic change that Nidhi Eoseewong distorted). As long as Thaksin owns the largest political party in Thailand and as long as he continues to meddle in Thailand's governmental affairs, he is definitely in the center of conflicts. However, in addition to uprooting the Thaksinomics, we want to comprehensively reform our nation to, once and for all, clean up the wrongdoing messes and prevent unpleasant political crisis from recurring.

And if you have listened objectively to the unified voices of anti-government protesters, you would easily know that the massive peaceful protests are not the conflicts between classes, not between Bangkok and outlying provinces, and not between the yellow-shirts and the red-shirts. You would also learn that it was the last three series of misconducts that compelled the silent majority to come out in millions on the street to peacefully protest against the current gov't demanding Yingluck Shinawatra to step down from the PM post. The last straw that broke the camel's back involves:

- Their attempt to enact a blanket amnesty bill that would whitewash all wrongdoings committed by everyone during 2004 through 2013. This means that Thaksin, his cronies (which many are in the current cabinet) and all convicted criminals would be set free from their crimes and misconducts.

- Their hasty passage of resolution to approve a project that would put Thai people and their descents in debt for at least 50 years.

- Their covert actions to amend the Constitution promoting nepotism to allow family members to be elected members of both lower and upper Houses. They openly denounced the Court's decision and announced that they would not accept the verdict after the Constitution Court decided and declared that the amended provision was illegal because they knowingly voted for their absent colleagues, altered the wordings and supporting documents in the version subsequently submitted to the Court that significantly different from the original version. Their act and declaration clearly are unconstitutional and disrespectful to the judicial branch.

Due to the lack of an effective check-and-balance system or any provision in the Constitution that allows the recall and removal of the sitting Prime Minister found to be incompetent, unethical, irresponsible, or unaccountable, Thai protesters have no choice but to resort to mass protests. Since a military coup d'état is no longer acceptable or can be counted upon, Thai demonstrators believe it's their own duty to protect the Constitution, their rights, and the interests of the people.

The majority of Thai people (who were silent in the past) no longer can tolerate or accept the authoritarian or fascist system Thaksin's regimes used in disguise of democracy to rule the country. We want leaders and politicians who are ethical, responsible and accountable – not the crooks, convicts and terrorists in the current government and former cabinets under Thaksin’s control. Based on VDO and audio clips, it’s the fact that Thaksin has been the one who, from his residence overseas, remotely sets policies for his puppet governments to follow, and calls the shots when things failed to go his way. This fact was even confirmed by the article you reported and published in your NY Times on 1/29/13. We also want the real democratic system that will lead Thai people to greater freedoms and rights, real equal opportunities and better standard of living for all.

Thai people want to have more says, power and participation as the check/balance mechanism. We're very eager to quickly embark on the comprehensive reforms which include systems of election, voting, political party, and campaign financing to get rid of vote selling and party buying. This means temporarily putting the elections aside until the reforms are done so that there won't be any repeated political crisis, prolonged conflict and senseless impasse with uncontrolled corruption and unaccountable leaders and/or representatives.

By badly misdiagnosing the real cause of the conflict and the purposes of the massive protests in your article, you've tarnished your reputation and lowered your journalism ethics. Whoever and whatever influenced you to take the low road and join the conspiracy group against Thailand and the majority of good Thai people, I'd suggest that you reconsider your relationship with him or her; the unconstructive collaboration should be terminated. As a goodwill gesture from a human being to another fellow man, I sincerely urge you to choose the high road in your journey to attain greater professional achievements. You should follow the path of high ethical journalism standard that

Water Cronkite, Bill Moyer, Ted Koppel, Dan Rather, Peter

Jennings, Tom Brokaw, Jim Lehrer and Robert MacNeil have traveled and helped them earn immense respect and trust from people all over the world.

I also strongly hope you would reexamine your stand and do the right things by timely and appropriately taking the corrective actions to put yourself on the same path that those great journalists and correspondence have traveled, and be on the same side with the majority of Thai people and fair-minded foreign readers all over the world.

Sincerely,

Peter Tang-piankij

ความเคลื่อนไหวของคนไทยในต่างแดน แก่ความเข้าใจผิดของสื่อตะวันตก คุณปีเตอร์ ตั้งเพียรกิจ

เขียนโดย Peter Tang-piankij

วันจันทร์ที่ 23 ธันวาคม 2013 เวลา 00:00 น. - แก้ไขล่าสุด วันจันทร์ที่ 23 ธันวาคม 2013 เวลา 13:56 น.

บันทึกนี้เขียนที่ GotoKnow โดย Prof. Vicharn Panich